

Tecninox do Brasil goes live

Raccortubi Group launches the new manufacturing unit at São Paulo, Brazil.

Following the international expansion of the company in the last decade, Raccortubi Group announces the empowerment of Raccortubi do Brasil with its manufacturing extension, Tecninox do Brasil.

Tecninox do Brasil will provide South American market with stainless steel butt weld fittings made in Brazil.

Starting from European base material, the production is carried out according to the international specifications, responding to the variety of end users' additional requirements, and goes through the same extensive quality checks conducted on the Italian production.

Exactly replicating the business model of the Italian headquarters, Raccortubi Do Brasil is able to meet all piping needs of the South-American clients directly from its office in Jacareí (São Paulo, Brazil), both from its stock and, now, from made-in-Brazil production, reducing times and costs for logistics.

Taking the name from Tecninox, the manufacturing site in the north of Italy, specialized in the production of fittings from ½ " to 16", <<Tecninox do Brasil is a strong sign of Group's commitment, representing a significant vote of confidence in South American market, with new production capabilities able to combine solid technical expertise and focus on quality gathered along the years>> says Mr. Pietro Federico, Managing Director of Raccortubi do Brasil.

This is just the latest news for the Group, which already counts on a global presence, from its headquarters in Italy, to its distribution branches in Brazil, Dubai, Singapore and the UK.

Now, the Company is up to OSEA, where Raccortubi Singapore will exhibit its complete offer of piping solutions at stand BL3-01. $
